

Yixi Li joined Dr. Lin's lab as a master student in August 2023. He received his bachelor degree in Chemical Engineering from Guangdong Technion-Israel Institute of Technology (GTIIT). During undergraduate period, he centered on Superquadric DEM simulation of cylindrical biomass pellets and spheres discharging. Yixi current research mainly focuses on multi-scale structures design for tissue-like materials.